

Membership Application Form

Surname: _____

Title: _____

Other name(s): _____

Address for Correspondence:

Tel (including international code):

Fax (including international code):

Email: _____

Other associations/ professional bodies: _____

Annual subscription: £25.00 _____

Registered students: £15.00 _____

(please submit proof of student status)

Institutional Members: £125.00 _____

Subscription may be taken for up to three years at a time -- same annual fee applies.

I submit my application for membership of IALIC for the period 01 December 200__ to 30 November 200__. I agree to abide by the constitution of the Association, and confirm my interest in the furtherance of its aims.

I agree to pay my subscription fee of £ _____

I enclose a cheque (in Sterling, drawn on a British bank) _____

I enclose cash (Sterling) _____

Signature: _____

Date: _____

Please tear off this form and write your details clearly. Please then return the form to Dr Malcolm MacDonald, Membership
Secretary, Fax: +44 - (0)1786 - 46 6131
Post: Institute of Education, Airthrey Castle,
University of Stirling, FK9 4LA, Scotland

Questions about membership? Contact: membership@ialic.org

Contact IALIC

The International Association for Languages and Intercultural Communication

General questions: general@ialic.org

Questions about membership:
membership@ialic.org

Questions about the journal: journal@ialic.org

Questions about the conference:
conference@ialic.org

Questions for the Chair: chair@ialic.org

Web: www.ialic.org

International
Association for Languages and Intercultural
Communication

The International Association for Languages and Intercultural Communication (IALIC) is a specialist forum for academics, practitioners, researchers and students. Working within an interdisciplinary and critical framework, members share a unique concern for the theoretical and practical interplay of living languages and intercultural understanding.

the aims of the Association are to strive, in theory and practice, for greater intercultural understanding and to tackle the causes and consequences of cultural barriers and racial intolerance.

The Association will seek to represent the living reality of experiences of increased mobility and of intercultural communication as well as addressing the professional concerns brought about by the relocation of research and teaching of living languages.

the collaboration

By bringing international scholars and practitioners together from a broad range of disciplinary backgrounds, among which anthropology, sociolinguistics, psychology, literary studies, the Association aims to create the conditions for a new body of intellectual enquiry which intersects consciously and reflectively with other disciplines.

the support

In this way the Association will provide support to scholars in their academic life, be it research, teaching or postgraduate study within the field of Language and Intercultural Communication and will promote Language and Intercultural Communication as an academic field.

the benefits

include an annual conference, the publication of the refereed journal, Language and Intercultural Communication, a mailing list, and an annual newsletter, plus any supporting events initiated locally.

the journal

Language and Intercultural Communication is a refereed journal which promotes an understanding of the relationship between language and intercultural communication, and to international understanding, dialogue and co-operation. More details about the journal can be found on the IALIC website at www.ialic.org.

the conference

The 3rd Annual Conference, held at Johannes Kepler University, Linz, Austria, 6-8 December, 2002, will focus on "The Transcultured Self: Experiencing Languages and Intercultural Communication". More details about the conference can be found on the IALIC website at www.ialic.org.

the executive committee

Chair:

Dr Alison Phipps, University of Glasgow, Scotland

Treasurer:

Dr Evelyne Glaser, Johannes Kepler University, Austria

Communications Officer:

Dr Crispin Thurlow, Cardiff University, Wales

the details

More information about IALIC and the upcoming conference can be found on the IALIC Website: www.ialic.org

JOIN IALIC

become a member

The Association declares its intention to work towards a mixed and inclusive membership. On this basis, membership is open to anyone with a research and/or teaching interest in promoting the aims of the Association at any level. Institutions may take out an institutional membership for £125, which includes four conference delegates to register at a discounted rate, and a subscription to the journal, Language and Intercultural Communication.

In order to allow for people applying just before the annual conference, membership normally runs for the period 01 December to 30 November the following year. If, however, you decide to take out membership during the year, your subscription will still include a reduced fee for one conference. Subscriptions may also be taken for up to three years at a time, with the same annual fee applying.

Subscription rates:

Annual subscription: £25.00

Registered students: £15.00

(please submit proof of student status)

International
Association for Languages and Intercultural Communication